BREAST IMPLANT

Breast augmentation is the enlargement of the breasts through the insertion of saline or silicone implants. Implants are inserted behind the breast tissue or the chest muscle. Candidates include people who want larger breasts, want to add symmetry to their body shape and proportions, or who have lost breast volume due to weight loss or pregnancy. Implants are generally soft, flexible shells made of silicone that are filled with either saline or silicone. While there's been some controversy surrounding the use of silicone implants, they're still widely popular among people who choose breast augmentation surgery.

If you elect to have breast augmentation surgery, you're most likely to have it done in an outpatient surgical center or similar facility. Most of the time, people are able to go home the same day as the procedure.

BREAST LIFT

The aim of breast lift surgery is to give volume to the affected breast tissue and to give a beautiful appearance with tissue configuration. Breast lift surgery is rarely performed under general anesthesia. Technically, it looks like a breast reduction operation. Over the years, breast tissue has lost its shape due to gravitational, breastfeeding, hormonal changes and moves in the direction of bulk sagging of the contained tissues.

VASER LIPOSUCTION

Liposuction is a cosmetic procedure that allows you to get rid of fat that resist diet and exercise. The procedure may be combined with other plastic surgery procedures, including facelift. Liposuction is a surgical procedure and is basically not a weight-loss method, even if the result is weight loss. Liposuction allows not only removal of abnormal regional fat accumulation, but also recontouring of the body part, where excess fat is suctioned. Liposuction is a surgical procedure that involves risks. Therefore, your overall health should be good before proceeding to liposuction. It is important that you have ideal body weight, healthy and elastic skin and do not smoke.

ARM LIFT

Sagging and loosening of the arms is one of the common problems in middle-aged women. This problem, which is also seen in losing and gaining excess weight, becomes even more remarkable when wearing sleeveless clothes in summer months. Arm stretching can be performed on patients who are very uncomfortable with loosening and sagging of their arms. Arm stretching is a surgical procedure aimed at relieving loosening and skin excess on the elbow, especially in women. The purpose of surgery is not only to thin the arm, but also to make it more tense. Arm stretching operations are generally performed for women over 40 years of age. Liposuction may also be added to patients with very thick arms. The procedure is performed under general anesthesia under operating room conditions.

MINI TUMMY TUCK

The abdominal region, which has a structure that helps to protect most of our internal organs, is one of the areas where regional fat is observed. The enlarged fat layer often becomes unresponsive to sports, diet and exercise. In addition, skin problems due to collagen breakage, which is called a crack in the skin structure and cause an aesthetic appearance, also constitute a regional problem.

Deformation in the abdominal muscles, often observed after high-weight babies, also causes this region to sag

GENITAL TIGHTENING-LABIAPLASTY

There are many aesthetic procedures that can be performed on the genital area in women. They can be applied alone or in combination according to the needs of the patient.

Fat injections: Weight loss, fullness and youthful appearance of the pubic region and outer lips, which are lost as a result of age progression, are obtained by processing fat tissue taken from another part of the body to both the pubic region and the outer lips.

Labioplasty: If the inner lips are too long and protrudes from the outside, it can create a bad appearance and cause pain during sexual intercourse. The long inner lips are shortened by a surgical procedure while preserving the natural structure of the vagina.

Vaginoplasty: Vaginal walls lose their elasticity and loosen especially after birth. This leads to a decrease in sexual pleasure in both the woman and her partner. This problem can be solved by narrowing the vagina with a simple surgical procedure.

G-spot injections: Some studies claim that vaginal orgasm is the result of stimulation of an area in the anterior wall of the vagina. Plumping this point with hyaluronic acid injections makes vaginal orgasm more intense and powerful.
